

Guanacaste (Tamarindo, Conchal, Papagayo)

The Pacific Coast of Costa Rica offers four distinct eco-systems: The last dry forests on the Pacific Coast are in Guanacaste Province and on Nicoya Peninsula; Tamarindo National Park boasts the last mangrove forest in existence in Central America. Playa Grande National Park is in this general area, and it is here that the giant sea turtles come seasonally to nest and lay their eggs (see below for a nesting schedule). The Nicoya Peninsula is best known for vast stretches of unspoiled, white sandy beaches.

Package Rates Include: Breakfast daily, round-trip Liberia Airport transfers, 13% Costa Rica occupancy tax, 10% service (in lieu of tipping) and 13% food and beverage tax on the included breakfasts. Child rate applies up to 15 years of age.

*Rates DO NOT include breakfast.

On the first floor, Garden Rooms offer views of the natural tropical gardens or forest, while similarly sized Deluxe Rooms on the second floor frame partial ocean or bay views, as well as vistas of the tropical gardens. On the third and fourth floors, beautiful Premium Rooms overlook the tropical dry forest and bay or ocean, offering exceptional privacy for secluded relaxation. One- and Two-Bedroom Suites are separate units nestled into the hillside, many perched on stilts and accessed by their own ramped pathway. They offer views of the surrounding tropical dry forest - as well as either the bay or ocean - and include a landscaped patio. All feature a private disappearing-horizon plunge pool. Rates for three-bedroom Villas are available upon request. Always inquire about seasonal specials or check our website.

Package Rates Include: Two nights hotel accommodations including tax, round-trip transfers via shuttle service with driver from/to Liberia International Airport in Guanacaste Province.
